

STOMACH ON STRIKE

SUCCESSFUL TONIC TREATMENT FOR INDIGESTION.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Cured This Woman and Cured Many Hundreds of Other Cases of Common Ailments.

Loss of appetite, coated tongue, bad taste in the mouth, heavy dull headache and a dull, sluggish feeling—these are the symptoms of stomach trouble. They indicate that the stomach is on a strike; that it is no longer furnishing to the blood the full quota of nourishment that the body demands, hence every organ suffers.

There are two methods of treatment, the old one by which the stomach is hampered by the use of purgatives and artificial stimulants, and the new one by which the stomach is toned up to do the work which nature intended of it. A recent cure by the tonic treatment is that of Mrs. Mary Stackpole, of 81 Liberty Street, Lowell, Mass. She says: "I suffered constantly for years from stomach trouble and terrible backaches and was confined to my bed the greater part of three years. I was under the care of our family physician most of the time, but did not seem to get better."

"I was completely run-down and was not able to do any work about the house. My blood was impure and my complexion pale. I suffered from flashes of heat, followed suddenly by chills. I had awful headaches, which lasted from three to four days. I could get but little rest at night, as my sleep was broken and fitful. As a result I lost several pounds in weight and became very nervous."

"I was in a wretched condition when I heard about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I started to take the pills at once and began to gain in weight and health. I was encouraged by this to keep on until I was cured. My friends and neighbors often remark what a changed woman I am and I owe it all to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

These wonderful pills are useful in a wide range of diseases such as anemia, rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, nervous headaches, and even locomotor ataxia and partial paralysis.

The great value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills lies in the fact that they actually make new blood and this carries health and strength to every portion of the body. The stomach is toned up, the nerves are strengthened, every organ is stimulated to do its work.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

ADVICE FROM ONE WHO KNEW.

Proof of Dire Results That Follow Change of Occupation.

"When I was district attorney," said Judge Sweeney, of Shasta county, California, "I secured the conviction of Montana Jack, a highwayman, who was something of a humorist. When asked by the judge whether he had anything to say against sentence being passed upon him Jack admitted that he had no protest to make, but that he would like to give a few words of advice to the young men in the room. Permission being granted, Jack said:

"Boys, my advice to you is to stick to whatever you are doing. Don't change your occupation, or you'll never get along in the world. Look at me. I was a successful burglar for years, never got caught, and collared lots of dough. Then I turned highwayman and got caught in my first hold-up. And here I am, all the result of changing my occupation. Whatever you are, boys, stick to it."—Woman's Home Companion.

An Indian's View of an Organ.

After a while curiosity led me back to the old house, and I saw for the first time how the white woman pumps so much air into a box that when she presses on the top board it howls convulsively. I forgot my bashfulness so far as to listen openly and enjoy the operation, wondering much how the white man puts a pair of lungs into a box, which is furnished with a whole set of black and white teeth, and when he sings to it it appears to answer him. This is how the white people teach their children to do things. I thought—From the Outlook—Dr. Charles A. Eastman's "School-days of an Indian."

Laundry work at home would be much more satisfactory if the right starch were used. In order to get the desired stiffness, it is usually necessary to use so much starch that the beauty and fineness of the fabric is hidden behind a paste of varying thickness, which not only destroys the appearance, but also affects the wearing quality of the goods. This trouble can be entirely overcome by using Defiance Starch, as it can be applied much more thinly because of its greater strength than other makes.

Missouri Legislature

PASS DRAMSHOP BILL.

Brewers Denied Saloon License Under Measure.

Jefferson City.—By a vote of 104 to 12, Senator Humphrey's dramshop bill passed the house Thursday. It was made the target for a number of amendments, but few of them were passed. Representative Simmons got through one which included brewers among those who are denied being granted saloon license. There was no opposition to it, but when Representative Whitcomb offered another, providing that in the issuance of licenses the testimony shall be in writing and made a part of the records, there was a storm of protests, and it was defeated on the ground that it did not apply to revocation of licenses as well. It was considered after an exciting little discussion, but the house sustained its position with added emphasis, the amendment being defeated by more than twenty votes, while in the first instance it lost only by two.

Representative Pemberton offered an amendment to add a section providing that on any day when saloons are closed as required by law there shall be a removal of all devices obstructing the view of the interior from the exterior. This brought Representative Botsford to his feet with the declaration that he was being wearied by all these amendments, which were only ill-disguised attacks upon the bill. The amendment was lost. Representative Farris offered an amendment providing for a court review, either in the granting or revocation of a license.

Representative Carter said this extra session was called for the purpose of putting the lid on, and he did not see his way clear to support something to lift the lid. Representative Botsford, author of the ward local option and the state excise commission bills, also opposed it, making good his statement of some days ago that he would oppose the measure if such a provision were placed in it. The amendment lost.

Representative Huck took a shot at the bill, trying to amend it so that it would require five persons instead of two to make complaint upon which proceedings could be instituted for the forfeiture of a dramshop keeper's bond. The shot went wide of the mark. Representative Sartin sent up the club lid section, attempting to have it incorporated in the bill, frequently as it has been eliminated from other measures and in previous bills. He insisted upon its adoption, despite a score of requests that he withdraw it because its passage would endanger the passage of the bill. He refused to yield, but the house relieved him of the pleasure of realizing upon his desire by a vote of 77 to 30.

Representative Vitt scored when he offered an amendment which made the bill applicable to Kansas City, where the police commissioners issue the saloon licenses. Then the bill was passed. It must again go through the senate, because of the amendments placed upon it in the house.

State Excise Bill Defeated.

A decisive defeat was given the state excise bill in the senate Thursday morning. It was not entirely unexpected, for events all through the special session of the present legislature have indicated what would be the ultimate fate of the measure. This means that there will be no state excise commissioner, as the action of the senate Thursday puts an end to that character of legislation, so far, at least, as the state at large is concerned.

Gov. Folk signed two bills—one, the appropriation bill for the expenses of the extra session, and the other the Polk bill, making the fraudulent or unauthorized signing of a petition for saloon license a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of $25.

The house refused to concur in the amendments the senate made to the Kimzey marriage bill, and on the part of the house a conference committee, composed of Representatives Oliver, Conran and Deal, was appointed.

The extra session will adjourn without having passed a revenue producing measure, and as a consequence the $800,000 to be withheld from the state institutions will not be withdrawn from the treasury. The management of the several institutions, when the deficiency staring the state in the face was made apparent by Auditor Wilder, entered into written contracts not to draw against items in their appropriations unless the money should be available. Had a revenue measure of any sort been passed they might have secured the full sum set aside for them, but such is not the case.

Liquor Tax Substitute Adopted.

The house adopted the committee substitute and ordered it engrossed for the bill proposing a tax of 10 cents a gallon on distilled liquors manufactured in this state, placing their inspection under the beer inspection department. The substitute reduced the inspection fee to 2 1/2 cents per gallon and exempts various liquors and denatured alcohol.

Both the St. Louis county excise bill and the home rule police bill were read first time in the senate. This makes it possible for them to be acted on finally before noon Saturday.

Senator McAllister presented a protest in the senate Thursday morning from the Independent Telephone Association of Missouri, now in session in Kansas City, against the legislation seeking to regulate long distance telephone rates.

On motion of Senator Ely, the senate took up and concurred in the house amendments to the Ely anti bookmaking and anti-pool-selling bills. These amendments only strengthening the phraseology of the bill in several places.

HORTICULTURE

JAPANESE MODE OF GRAFTING.

In This Method the Scion is Extended to or Below Level of Roots.

In Japanese grafting the scion is incised in about the same method as the stock would be in the ordinary splice-grafting, the sharpened head of the stock fitted into the cut in the side of the scion, the lower end of which extends to or below the level of the stock, and the union well covered with waxed cloth and thread.

The Japanese Graft.

When this cutting graft is planted the free lower end of the scion is able to absorb moisture from the soil and often to emit roots of its own, at the same time being nourished by its vital connection with the stock. The cut illustrates a Japanese graft made by Mr. Norman of an oriental walnut, but, says Rural New Yorker, the method may be applied to other species, and is naturally most useful with varieties that root as cuttings with difficulty when planted in the ordinary way.

This cutting-graft or Japan method is in particular favor in Australia for the purpose of getting apple varieties locally suitable or Northern Spy or other stocks resistant to Woolly aphis or "American blight," as it is there called. Long scions of Northern Spy are grafted in the manner shown on ordinary apple seedling stocks and carefully planted, taking especial pains to firm the soil about the lower end of the scion, which generally throws out roots of its own after it has grown a year or two. The top is then budded or grafted to the desired variety, and when transplanted from the nursery row the original stock is entirely cut away, leaving the tree wholly on Northern Spy or other resistant roots.

PEACH CULTURE.

High Land the Best Location for an Orchard.

The peach, although a native of a warm climate, has through years of cultivation, been hardened until it may now be grown far north. It is a tree which comes into bearing at the third year from the bud. Propagation is effected by seed, by budding or by grafting; budding being the most successful and widely practiced method.

The best site for a peach orchard is high land, sloping toward the north, and the best soil a sandy loam with a gravelly subsoil. Peach lands must be dry; under no conditions will the trees grow in wet, soggy land.

Prepare for planting much the same way as for the apple, planting the trees in spring one rod apart each way. If special care is taken, two-year-old trees can be used, but the best are one year, medium size, four feet high.

The peach requires very severe pruning, says Farmers' Review. The first year cut off all branches, leaving only one bud at the base of each branch, and head the trees back to about two and one-half feet. The second and third years prune to a round or oval shape and every year after cut out one-fourth to one-fifth of the wood.

Thin the fruit the same as the apple and begin picking as soon as the peaches part readily from the stem. It may be necessary to make three to five pickings during the season.

The Garden and Orchard.

Horticulture means the science of caring for things grown in the garden. This is the original significance coming from the Latin word hortus, a garden. At the present time it includes in general acceptance more than that, for all the culture of trees is assigned to the department of horticulture. In fact, even forestry itself is now generally considered as a science rightly included in horticulture.

The garden is as important to-day as it was in the days of the Romans, but in our day it has become a greater world factor than at any time. All fruit-growing enterprises, though involving thousands of acres of land, belong now to horticulture. Fruit trees were in old times the product of the garden, but our orchards have outgrown the garden stage.

WHAT MADE HIM DOUBTFUL.

Size of Commuter's Hat Caused Acquaintance to Worry.

A commuters on the D. L. & W. remarked to a friend the other morning, as they came into the city:

"Hawkins, of Stamford, is going to move into that new house next door to me. I know him very slightly, and I understand that you know him pretty well."

"Yes, I have known him for upward of 20 years."

"Well, what kind of a fellow is he, anyhow?" asked the commuter.

"A first-rate fellow, and in every way desirable. Why?"

"I just wanted to know, because I could never quite make up my mind about him. He wears such a small hat."

ZEAL THAT WAS MISDIRECTED.

Housekeeper Meant to Please Employer, but Alas!

"Such an article," said H. P. Judson, the new head of the University of Chicago, in declining a rather unusual interview, "would be not only futile but even in a mild way harmful. It would be like the work of the careful housekeeper. There was an old general who had brought home from the war a splendid flag—a flag all torn with bullets, faded with fierce suns and stained with the dust and blood of battle. This superb trophy hung over the mantel in his library. Well, one unlucky day he engaged a new housekeeper and the next week missed his flag. He rang at once. 'Where is that flag of mine?' he said, pointing anxiously to the empty space on the wall.

"I have been working on it, sir," the housekeeper answered. "I've washed it thoroughly and sewed up all the rents and darned all the holes and when I bring it back to you, sir, I'm sure you'll say it looks as good as new."

BABY'S ECZEMA GREW WORSE.

Hospitals and Doctors Could Not Relieve Him—But Cuticura Remedies a Speedy, Permanent Cure.

"Eczema appeared when our baby was three months old. We applied to several doctors and hospitals, each of which gave us something different every time, but nothing brought relief. At last, one of our friends recommended to us Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. A few days afterwards improvement could be noted. Since then we have used nothing but Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, and now the baby is six months old and is quite cured. All that we used was one cake of Cuticura Soap and two boxes Cuticura Ointment, costing in all $1.25. C. F. Kara, 343 East 65th Street, New York, March 30, 1906."

And He Was Not German.

One of our third grade teachers noticed a little fellow the other day during a penmanship lesson who was evidently absorbed in his work and putting his whole soul into his efforts to make his results look like the teacher's copy upon the blackboard.

Thinking such devotion worthy of special reward she passed up the aisle to give him an encouraging pat upon the head and the regulation smile of approval. As she drew near she noticed that his lips were moving, and that with the completion of each letter he compared it with his copy and muttered audibly, "damit," "damit;" then screwed up his courage and his lips for a new attempt. The teacher passed on without distracting his mind from his work.—Journal of Education.

The extraordinary popularity of fine white goods this summer makes the choice of Starch a matter of great importance. Defiance Starch, being free from all injurious chemicals, is the only one which is safe to use on fine fabrics. Its great strength as a stiffener makes half the usual quantity of Starch necessary, with the result of perfect finish, equal to that when the goods were new.

Worth Observing.

In a certain preparatory school in Washington an instructor one day made the statement that "every year a sheet of water 14 feet thick is raised to the clouds from the sea."

"At what time of the year does that occur, professor?" asked a freshman. "It must be a sight worth going a long way to see."—Harper's.

Danger in Signals.

"I was playing a game of cards in a mining camp in the Rockies," said the mild-mannered man, "when suddenly my partner, by way of a gentle hint, held up two fingers to indicate that he had a pair. Quick as a flash, one of our opponents whipped out his dirk and slashed off the fingers.

Perfect Womanhood

The greatest menace to woman's permanent happiness in life is the suffering that comes from some derangement of the feminine organs. Many thousands of women have realized this too late to save their health, barely in time to save their lives.

To be a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband, should be a woman's constant study.

If a woman finds that her energies are flagging, that she gets easily tired, dark shadows appear under her eyes, she has backache, headache, bearing-down sensations, nervousness, irregularities or the "blues," she should start at once to build up her system by a tonic with specific powers, such as the great woman's remedy for woman's ills, made only of roots and herbs. It cures Female Complaints, such as Dragging Sensations, Weak Back, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation and Ulceration, and all Organic Diseases, and is invaluable in the Change of Life. It dissolves and expels Tumors at an early stage. Subdues Faintness, Nervous Prostration, Exhaustion, and strengthens and tones the Stomach. Cures Headache, General Debility, Indigestion, and invigorates the whole female system. It is an excellent remedy for derangements of the Kidneys in either sex.

The Bright Side.

"Oh, this poverty!" wept the beautiful wife when her shiftless husband came home. "The gas and electric companies have shut off their service because you have not paid their bills."

Penalties of Eating.

A Washington physician one morning was summoned by a patient whose eccentricities of diet had required calling him many times before; but on this occasion the patient was unusually frank about the cause of his trouble.

"It's my own fault, doctor," came from him in lugubrious tones. "Experience teaches one what he can eat and what he can't eat. Last night I ate three cucumbers, a few radishes, a saucerful of strawberries, and drank a glass of ice water. Then I went to bed. However, I've learned one thing: a man has no right to drink ice water just before retiring."—Sunday Magazine.
